

CHANGE IN GOVERNANCE AS COLLECTIVE LEARNING PROCESS: Management, Politics and Ethics in Forestry

International Symposium
Nancy, France, 21-24 June 2009

Poster Session

- Yacouba Noël Coulibaly/Monica Idinoba/Elke Verbeeten/Johnson Nkem: Guideline for climate change vulnerability assessment of forest ecosystem services in adaptation of water resources in West Africa
- David Gritten: Communicating forest ethics: Online course of “ethical approaches to forest management”
- Faustin P. Maganga/Jumanne Moshi Abdallah: Prospects of improving livelihoods through participatory forest management: Lessons from Suledo Forest Reserve, Tanzania
- Enver Mapanda/Janusz Zwolinski/Mike McCall/George Theart: Local perspectives and dynamics in indicators of sustainable forest management: a case study from Tanzania
- Helena Mellqvist: Changes in governance as collective learning process: Management, politics & ethics in forestry
- Blas Mola-Yudego: Locating and analysing the frequency and concentration of forest conflicts: A systematic approach based on extensive empirical cases
- Raluca Nichiforel: An assessment of corporate socially responsible behaviours in the context of Romanian forest-based industries
- Senthil Kumar Sampath: The Forest Department and the new Tribal Right Act in Madhya Pradesh, India: learning at central and local levels
- Hildebrand Shayo: Forest resource governance within community guidelines and neighbourhood revolution in Tanzania
- Himadri Sinjha: Forest management in Central India: Conflicting agglomeration of Maoist, displacement, poverty and conservation of forest
- Nuhu Sulemana: Incentives for farmers for the management of on-farm timber trees
- Meelis Teder: The changes in forestry governance and management of public forests in Estonia – a case for innovation study