

Pillar 1—Coordinating new industrial policies

Strengthening coherence between investment agreements and sustainable development commitments

In the face of multiplying investment and trade agreements to secure value chains, the T7 will offer concrete solutions to ensure these instruments help carry forward sustainable development gains and foster balanced relationships with partner countries.

Co-chairs

Axel Berger, IDOS \(Germany\)

Axel Berger is Deputy Director (interim) at the German Institute of Development and Sustainability (IDOS). His work focuses on international investment agreements, free trade agreements and global value chains, with a strong emphasis on global economic governance and the implementation of the 2030 Agenda. He has extensive experience working on G20-related issues and brings deep regional expertise on Africa and East Asia. In addition to his research and policy work, Axel Berger is actively involved in education and capacity building, notably through the Managing Global Governance (MGG) Academy postgraduate training programme, and teaches international political economy at Bonn University.

Cecilia Trasi, ECCO \(Italy\)

Cecilia Trasi is a Senior Policy Advisor in Industry & Trade at ECCO. Before joining ECCO, Cecilia worked at Bruegel as an Energy and Climate Research Analyst, focusing on green industrial policies, clean technologies and climate diplomacy. She also gained experience at the European Commission, where she contributed to renewable energy support in Sub-Saharan Africa, and at the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), working on global value chain integration in the Eastern Partnership countries. In recent years, Cecilia has authored several publications on industrial policy and international cooperation, with a particular focus on green transition strategies and technological competitiveness.
